Late-Breaking Abstracts – Now Open

We are delighted to announce that the late-breaking abstracts submission for the FENS 2019 conference is now open. Please note late-breaking abstracts will only be accepted between 24 June – 30 June.

Submit Late-Breaking Abstract Now

The call for late-breaking abstracts allows for the submission of high impact and innovative findings that were not available in time for the FENS 2019 general abstract deadline. Submissions that describe important research advances and highlight novel and substantive studies of high impact, will ensure that the FENS 2019 programme is further enhanced with outstanding studies and up-to-date research.

Please see the conference website for instructions on how to submit late-breaking abstracts.
